For many years we have been conducting an exclusive milk and sweet cream business on Edgewood avenue, under the name of the Gate City Dairy.

Recently we have acquired large and convenient quarters on Trinity avenue, and have added ICE CREAM to our milk business.

Our new plant is equipped with every modern improvement and convenience for the handling of milk and the manufacture of ice cream. It is ideal in sanitary arrangements.

If you are going to give a dinner or party, let us furnish—and surprise you—with the deliciousness of our Ice Creams or the purity and excellence of our Milk—either sweet milk, sweet cream, or buttermilk.

DEALERS—You are invited to communicate with us. We can supply you in any quantity, render you prompt and efficient service, and give you RIGHT PRICES.

HOME CONSUMERS are invited to phone us when in need of Ice Cream or Milk of any kind. We make deliveries anywhere in the city.

Read each item carefully, check it against all former prices and see for yourself. There is a reason, too. In today's Constitution you find the grocer's final word, his determination made after the last market reports are in and his day's business for Friday has been checked up.

AS POSTMASTER

Savannah, Ga., February 25.—(Special.)—There was unusual interest in the announcement made public this morning that Captain William R. Gignilliat has been named to succeed Marion Lucas as postmaster at Savannah. Mr. Lucas retires March I to begin his duties as police commissioner of 'Savannah, although his term as postmaster does not expire until February, 1922. Captain Gignilliat is appointed as "acting postmaster." What will happen to the postmastership when the republican administration goes into office is a source of much speculative comment here.

to have taken the brotherhood men by surprise. While none of the grand lodge officers or other brotherhood officials could be reached in the city for a statement, it was unofficially indicated that the union men will look into the question with extreme care before making any move regarding the receivership. The fact that a strike vote has been taken by the men, the result of which has not yet been made public, and that the unions are still subjected to a reduction in wages at this time intensifies the interest that is being taken in the A., B. & A. wage fight.

Colonel Bugg was named receiver for that company Friday morning by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States District court for the Northern district of Georgia, He gave bond at once and took immediate control of the railroad as an officer of the federal court. The order handed down by Judge the United States district court gave him authority to cut wages of the men without the approval of the federal wage board.

The appointment of a receiver for the A. B. & A. railroad came as an added chapter to a long history of financial troubles said to have been experienced by that line, and the action of the federal judge was taken upon a petition filed by the Birmingham Trust and Savings company, which set forth a claim for $90,000, an amount said to be due the banking concern on a promisory note given by the railroad company.

note given by the railroad company.

The action of Judge Sibley in naming Colonel Bugg receiver for the A. B. & A. followed a long and spirited controversy between the railroad officials and the employees over a notice issued December 29. by Colonel. Bugg, as president of the company, that a cut of 50 per cent of all increases given the 2,000 employees of the road since the beginning of the war, would be necessary because of the road's inability to maintain the present wage scale under its present revenue.

Subject to Approval.

the appointment of a receiver for the A., B. & A. property by intervention, as those empowered to speak for the unions in Atlanta could not be reached. Unofficial comments made by leaders among some of the brotherhoods, however, clearly indicated that the employees are puzzled over this latest move in the A., B. & A. matter.

Silent on Wage Cut.

Upon the understanding that Colonel Bugg would possibly derive from his receivership authority that would warrant him in making a wage reduction upon the order of the court, without reference to the wage board, the newly-named receiver was asked if he expected to put the wage reduction into effect according to his announcement of December 29. To this, Colonel Bugg reduction into effect according to his announcement of the court, without reference to the wage board, that newly-named receiver was asked if he expected to put the wage reduction into effect according to his announcement of December 29. To this, Colonel Bugg reduction with the appointment of a receiver for the railroad company is the announcement of December 29. To this, Colonel Bugg reduction into effect according to his announcement of December 29. To this, Colonel Bugg reduction into effect according to his announcement of December 29. To this, Colonel Bugg reduction into effect according to his announcement of the company, and the representatives of the employees. While it is understood that Colonel Bugg has now the complete control of the road, with a free hand to deal with the demands of its employees, no announcement has been made by the receiver as to what action he will take in the matter.

Colonel Bugg was named receiver for that company Friday morning Subject to Approval, matter of wages. The fact that the road is said to be losing some-thing like $100,000 a month through the present wage scale, however makes it likely that action upon the question of wages will be taken at the earliest moment possible.

The receivership of the A., B. & A., is said to have eliminated the question of conferences between employees and the officials of the road, as were recommended by the United States railroad labor board, but Colonel Bugg said Friday that he could not state at this time whether or not he will offer to confer with the employees of the company before a decision regarding wages has been made.

The bill asking for a receiver for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad company, which was filled at the instance of the Birmingham Trust and Savings company, was brought before the court by the representative of the banking company, Reuben R. Arnold, of Atlanta. The bill alleges that the railroad company borrowed $90,000 from the Birmingham bank on December 8, the loan being for a period of finety days. Simultaneously with the filing of the bill asking for a receiver, the company filed an answer admitting the indebtness and consenting to the appointment of a receiver. Judge Sibley, in appointing Colonel B. L. Bugg receiver, fixed the bond of the pointment of a receiver. Judge Sibley, in appointing Colonel B. L. Bugg receiver, fixed the bond of the official at $50,000, which he was given three days to make. Colonel Bugg took over the railroad Friday as an official of Judge Sibley's court. His bond for $50,000 being furnished by the National Surety company, W. L. McCalley, local agent.

Colonel B. L. Bugg, formerly president of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railway company, who was on Friday appointed receiver by order of Hon. Samuel H. Sibley, judge of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia, issued the following statement:

ing statement.

Colonel Bugg's Statement.

"The financial condition of the road is due entirely to the extraordinary increases in the cost of operation of which much the largest item is the wages. In the year 1920, the wages were 72 per cent of all the earnings. These increases were in much greater proportion than the increases in the freight and passenger rates, being more than double, while the average advance in freight and passenger rates was about 50 per cent.

"In order to satisfy ourselves of the efficiency of the operation of the road since return to private ownership, we have made up some figures from official sources showing a comparison of the operation of the A., B. & A., with other roads in this territory. These comparisons are very striking and reflect great credit on the results accomplished by the officers and employees such orders as may be given them from time to time by said receiver," and each of them are "enjoined from interfering in any way with the possession or the management of any part of the business." or from "preventing or seeking to prevent the discharge of his duties as such receiver."

Colonel Bugg is empowered, as receiver for the A., B. & A., to continue the business of the rallroad and "manage all its property at his discretion, in such manner as will, in his judgment, produce the most satisfactory result consistent with the public duties imposed on said company."

Whether or not the order of Judge Sibley takes precedence over the recent rulings of the United States railroad labor board, giving Colonel Bugg authority to reduce wages, could not be definitely learned Friday night. None of the officers of the road or counsel connected with it would make the direct statement that Colonel Bugg authority to reduce wages, could act without regard to wage board in the question of wages, or the content of the colonel Bugg authority to reduce wages, could act without regard to wage board in the question of wages, or the content of the road or counsel connected with it would make the direct statement that Colonel Bugg authority to reduce wages, could act without regard to wage board in the question of wages, or the content of the receiver of the road or counsel connected with it would make the direct statement that Colonel Bugg authority to reduce wages, could act without regard to wage board in the question of wages, or the content of the content

This is arrived at by multiplying the average tonnage loaded per car by the average miles per car moved per day, which produced the following result in November: A. Unable to Pay Expenses

The bill filed by Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, asking for a receiver for the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, charges that the road is insolvent and that it is unable to meet its current expenses. It was stated that the Old Colony Trust company, of Boston; the Equitable Trust company, of New York, and the Columbia Trust company are trustees for bondholders of the road, holding liens on the property, and that should these mortgages be foreclosed, the road would be dismembered. The receivership was asked for, it was explained, inv order to preserve the property from disintegration.

It was also declared that the wages of the employees constituted a lien on the property and the petition continues in part as follows: Under section 2793 of the Code of Georgia, the amount due employees, by any railroad company, for wages, earned by services rendered the same railroad company, shall be superior in dignity to the lien of any mortgage or other contract executed or created by said company, And under section 2795 of the code a similar lien is given for supplies furnished and for live stock killed within six monts preceding the institution of proceedings to enforce the lien. As most 2785 of the code a similar lien is given for supplies furnished and for live stock killed within six months preceding the institution of proceedings to enforce the lien. As most of the operating expenses of the defendant are made up either of the salaries of employees or materials furnished for the operation of the road, it is apparent that the above described deficit of $100,000 a month is, in reality, becoming a lien upon the property of the defendant, superior to the lien of the mortgages described, and that if said liens are permitted to accumulate, will eventually consume the entire property. Complainant is informed and believes that the defendant cannot pay its current obligations as they mature. And is unable, in the ordinary course of its business, to pay its liability, and that it is insolvent; that the various mortgages, trust agreements hereinbefore mentioned, are each capable of separate forclosure and that a separate forclosure

Statement by Arnold

Following the appointment of Colon onel Bugg as receiver for the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railing has a receiver for the Birmingham banking company, made the following statement:

In a general way the bill speaks for itself and shows the necessity of a receiver. This railroad is losing $100,000 per month, not counting interest on its mortgages. This is $3,500 per day. Its wage expense is $3,500 per mile per year.

More than Tl per cent of its gross operating receipts, less than 29 per cent to pay for supplies, taxes maintenance, insurance and every other expense incident to the operating of a railroad.

This railroad serves a great territory, it should be preserved for the benefit of the public as a great system. It is manifest from its gross earnings of $0,000 per mile per year that this railroad will be of great service to the public if its expenses are not too high.

Well, that's what happened to Mrs. Jones last Friday afternoon at the corner of Whitehall and Hunter streets. And the peculiar thing about it was that nearly every man who passed—including the traffic officer—took a turn at swinging the crank, but not a spark could be started.

Finally willing hands pushed the balky thing to one side on Hunter street and left Mrs. Jones alone with her troubles. Piled in her car were a number of purchases. She couldn't go away and leave them—she couldn't carry them with her. There was a pretty suit for herself and a stylish dress for her daughter, besides several other articles of wearing apparel. Then she was taking home a suit for Mr. Jones which he had selected earlier in the day.

Piled in her car, too, were some new lace curtains and some rugs and other furnishings for the home.

At last a thought struck her. The traffic "cop" volunteered to keep his eye on the car for a few minutes while she went to a near-by phone. There she called the Home Art Supply company, at 172-174 Whitehall street, where she had purchased all these things on very liberal terms. They very cheerfully sent one of their cars to her rescue, and saw that she and all her purchases were landed safely at home.

A later phone brought Mr. Jones, who found that the car was sans

Moral—Buy your clothes and house furnishings from the Home Art Supply Co., and if you need help to get 'em home, they'll be there with the service.—(adv.)

He said he not only approved the departmental reorganization plan submitted by Mr. Hoover as a condition of acceptance, but had found himself in "perfect accord" with it. Particular attention had been attracted to the negotiations between the two men because it has been well known that Mr. Hoover was from the first a storm center of the cabinet list. Strong pressurator his appointment was brought to bear from various quarters, and adverse recommendations also came in from many republicans throughout the country. He was conspicuous politically for his support of the league of nations and for his approval of President Wilson's plea for the election of a democratic congress in 1218.

New York, February 25.—Keen interest was evinced in Wall street today in the order of the comptroller of the treasury calling for a report on salaries of national bank officials in connection with the mational bank call issued yesterday. Such a report, it was pointed out, would mean the making public of the great range of bank officials salaries, as the law requires that bank statements in response to the comptroller's call must be published. Some bankers were reported to be seeking legal advice as to whether the order, which was said to be unprecedented, could be enforced. These bankers were quoted as holding that publication of such information would be the source of invidious comparison among banks, and might cause unjust reflections. Information as to salaries heretofore has been furnished to the comptroller privately by bank examiners.

The comptroller, in his recent an-

The comptroller, in his recent annual report, criticised inequalities of bank officials' salaries, and expressed the opinion that bank stockholders should be informed as to salaries paid to executives.

Action of Senate in Declining to Confirm Orders Ends Matter.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

Washington, February 25.—The action of the senate today in declining, by a small margin, to go into executive session to confirm the Wilson promotions to general officers in the army, or to refer them to the military committee, very probably sounds the death knell for these promotions during the present congress. It does not mean however, that these officers, who were advanced by the president for faithful services during the war, and without regard to their political complexions, many of whom are republicans, will not be fittingly recognized by the government.

It is understood that what an rittingly recognized by the government.

It is understood that what appears to be a reflection cast upon these military commanders by the senate is in reality another republican schame to punish President Wilson, the republican controlled senate preferring that these promotions shall be made by President Harding, so that a republican administration may get the credit for them, whereupon the senate will promptly confirm them. Some of these same forty officers will be among the early nominations made by the new president, to be confirmed during the extra session of the senate called to meet on March 4 for confirmation purposes.

Intriente String Work.

Each figure was suspended by probably a dozen strings, all of which converged upon a small wooden frame rather similar to a toy aeroplane body. With the palm of the hand gripping the main beam of these frames, free play was allowed the fingers to move over and give just the proper jerk to the string which would produce a certain gesture or movement. Certain strings manipulated arms, others governed legs, while others represented the trunk of the body, the head, and others members and Intriente String Work.

With minuteness of detail as to stage accessories—in the latter accompanying speech and moved a horse's bridal or a fairy's wand

Sounds very simple in plain English, but careful attention to the almost continuous movements of the puppet-players' hands made it plain that the retails of the remarkable performance had been studied to a point that told of almost unlimited practice and work.
Altogether, the unusual sights afforded by this back-stage visit were highly interesting, and spoke worlds of the patience of the human mind in tirelessly working out elaborate entertainment.

The story of the delightful little playlet of Thackery's was centered about a magic ring bestowed by the Fairy Blackstick, which assured youth and untold beauty to its wearer. Prince Bulbo, heir to the throne of Tartary and companion of The Rose, beholds the Princess Angelica, of the reigning house of Paflagonia, while she is wearing the ring and immediately lays suit to her heart and wins her love.

Ring Changes Hands.

Ring Changes Hands. The horribly ugly Countess Gruffanuff then comes into possession of the ring, and the affections of the price are turned in her direction under the charm of the ring. Still later the maid, Betsinda, comes into possession of the ring, and immediately Bulbo, the king of Tartary, and another prince, Giglio, woo her.

One fact about the bond meetings Friday more notable than at any time yet during the campaign was the big attendance. This was viewed with extreme satisfaction by the campaign leaders.

Macon, Ga., February 25.—(Special.)—A Jury in the Bibb superior court this afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Mrs. Felix C. Johnston, wife of a Macon physician, who had been on trial for two days, charged with assault with intent to murder M. E. Ouzts, a 12-year-old boy. The indictment against Mrs. Johnston alleges that she threw a caustic solution of soda and lye on the boy, seriously burning him.

In her statement to the jury today, Mrs. Johnston said, "I am a Chris-Insidious Propagands. # Another Public Trust Gone Wrong

"UNION WAGE SCALE RESTORED AT PARK"

Atlanta, Ga., February 25, 1921.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, ATLANTA, GA.

Gentlemen:-

At the last meeting of your Honorable Body, a majority of your members assumed the responsibility of arbitrarily raising the wages and shortening the hours of the workmen on the city's Cyclorama, which action was taken over the protest of the contractor in charge, who is doing this work for the city at a fixed monthly salary.

If your meeting has been correctly quoted by press notices, it is simply another case of a body of men disinterested in, and thoroughly unfamiliar with, the building conditions making a ruling that is based upon neither fact nor fairness.

The press notice states: "The contractor cut the pay of the men on his own volition and explained to the board that he did it because other contractors are doing the same thing." At the beginning of business depression last Fall, the building trades were not exempt. There was an acute shortage of work in building lines, due to the rapid reduction of building materials, tightness of money, and a general feeling that to postpone building operations would mean an enormous saving.

The Master Builders' Association was quick to sense the situation, and in order to stimulate building operations, and supply work for literally thousands of unemployed, they saw but one solution: namely, to put the cost of building where the public would feel satisfied to go ahead. In this readjustment, it was but right and fair that labor should accept its share of the reduction in building costs, and the action of the Master Builders has proven a great blessing to many a man who has a family to support, and who, under other conditions, would have been thrown out of work entirely.

At the time the Cyclorama building was started, carpenters were employed at 80 cents an hour and laborers at 40 cents, the then prevailing wage rate. The Master Builders' Association in December established a rate of 70 cents an hour for carpenters and 30 cents for laborers, which rates were one hundred per cent above the pre-war rates for this class of work. After two weeks' notice, on January 1st, this scale was established at the Cyclorama, as well as at about 90 per cent of all operations in Atlanta,

Mr. Jone's stated to the Board that this reduction caused 14 men to throw up the work on the Cyclorama, which statement we are charitable enough to attribute to mis-information. The facts are, that not one single man quit. These facts were proven to you when Mr. Clayton submitted to you his payroll sheets.

Mr. Jones further states: "The matter was not a question of individuals, but a question of principles." And that, "as a citizen of Atlanta he was amazed and dumbfounded that the salary of the contractor, architect and foreman was left intact, and the men working by the day singled out and their pay slashed."

We are forced to express as much "surprise" at Mr. Jones' declarations on this subject as he feels in addressing your Honorable Body. The facts are, that, in accepting this job, Mr. Clayton, through civic pride and past associations with the Cyclorama, offered to supervise the work for about 50 per cent of what he would have charged on any private contract, and, out of this meager sum comes his clerical hire, his own time and his overhead cost of operation. He accepted it on a stipulated sum per month, and, by reducing the rate, he has gained not one penny, but such reduction is of sole benefit to the tax payers of the City of Atlanta.

By a large majority, the workmen of Atlanta understand and appreciate the fact that we are going through a period of readjustment and have gladly, with much credit and honor to themselves, consented to do their part to bring about stabilized conditions in the shortest time possible. They furthermore realize that 70 cents an hour today means considerably more than 80 cents did last Fall. The only complaints we have received in regard to the present wage rates have come from paid union officials. Our men are satisfied and glad to work at these rates, and unhesitatingly acknowledge their fairness.

The effect of the action of your Board in thus aribtrarily increasing the rates upon the Cyclorama building (at the expense of the tax payers of Atlanta) will have a tendency to disrupt and throw back into chaos the present pleasant relations that exist between the contractors and their employees, who have been working hand in hand for the single purpose of bringing the building business back to normal without injury to anyone, and in order that everyone might work on uninterruptedly, and that suitable uarters might be pre-

There seems to be a lack of understanding on the part of somebody as to the real conditions that exist. You will find that fully 75 per cent of the work done is on the cost-plus basis. How, then, does Mr. Jones figure that by a reduction in wage rates the contractor is increasing his own income?

We stand ready and anxious to verify and amplify the facts as above stated, and charge those of your Board who voted for this increase, with gross and flagrant waste of the public's money. With everything coming down, and the public fully aware of these reductions, we feel that the tax payers of Atlanta have a right to know, and will listen

ROBY ROBINSON.

"To know him was to love him." There is no citizen of Atlanta to whom that quotation can be more appropriately applied than to Roby Robinson, whose untimely death creates a void in the hearts of his family, his friends and his business associates that can never be filled.

His loss is irretrievable, but the grief of those who mourn him will be assuaged by the splendid memory of this stalwart Christian, whose honor, integrity and gentle love for his brother man will serve as a beacon light in the uncharted sea of life.

A keen, farseeing business man, an able executive, and a citizen with a high conception of his civic obligations, his generosity, unselfish devotion to duty, overflowing humanity, breadth of nature, and incorruptibility of soul won for him the substantial and enduring friendship of those with whom he came in contact. Whether in his office, his home, ways the same. Instinctively dem- which they present." ic and delightfully humorous, his genial smile and twinkling eyes will be missed-and cherished in old, alike.

He was truly one of nature's noblemen, as unselfish as it is possible for a human being to be, as gentle as a child; upright without equivocation, with a love for his fellow-man which held his acquaintances in a delightful companionship.

He was a devoted husband, an idolatrous father, who, teaching his children by example as well as precept, made companions of them, and moulded his home into a circle of happiness.

Born in Barbour county, Alabama, he came to Georgia when he was still a youth. He was loved in the state in which he was born. He was honored and respected in the state where he lived.

Alabama never sent out a nobler son; Georgia never lost a finer

In practically all departments there is duplication of effort, overlapping and conflict of authority, all making for confusion and wastefulness throughout the whole structure of the government.

Congress has created a committee to work out a plan for "simplification of the executive branch of the government," with a view to minimizing duplication of work and reducing the pay roll; and Mr. Harding has expressed his intention to provide some sort of reorganization agency to work toward a similar objective, and also to facilitate the transaction of husiness. the plan being for these two agencies to co-operate to the fullest possible extent toward the common

Whatever may be done toward the simplification of government and, above all, the curtailment of governmental red tape, undoubtedly will meet with universal gratification and approval on the part of the American public.

IN GOOD FAITH.

In all of Atlanta's history the voters were never called upon to express their attitude toward a proposition that was buttressed with such unanimity of sentiment as that which is daily being manifested in behalf of the proposed $8,850,000 municipal bond issue which is to be put to the ballot box test on March 8.

Practically every civic, humani tarian or commercial organization in the city has tacitly indorsed the proposal, and not one of them has expressed disapproval of it.

There may be-there undoubted ly is, for that matter-some opposition to it, but it is individual opposition, isolated, and, numerical ly speaking, negligible. And it was to have been expected, such as it is, for no matter what might be proposed in a community of the size of Atlanta there would certainly be a few "chronic antis" who would oppose it. But this bonding proposal has met-with favorable reception on the part of the masses and of all elements of the community that is without precedent in the development of this city from the status of a cross-roads town to a great, pulsating metropolis-the "Gateway city" of the south!

One of the reasons why public sentiment is so unanimously in favor of this measure is that, as the bond campaign committée expressed it in its formal statement to the public yesterday morning-

"The mayor and council, the board of education, the bond campaign committee and the bond commission are dealing with the people in ab solute good faith. They are out in the open, concealing nothing, inviting the people to check or on the golf links, he was al- statement and verify every figure

The citizen who votes for bonds on March 8 will do so in absolute assurance that every dollar of the money thus obtained will be applied to the purpose to which it is intended to be applied.

For any citizen to doubt that would be for him to question the honesty and integrity and good faith of the mayor, every member of council and the sixteen representative men and women who constitute the bond commission that is to have direct supervisory jurisdiction over the disbursement of the proposed bond revenues. And for this reason the success of the bonding proposal on election day is as nearly certain as anything not an accomplished fact can be certain!

While, as one federal judge has said, "the public seems to have an idea that the prohibition law is a joke," the bootleggers and tigers within the jurisdiction of their friends the "fining judges" look upon it as a convenience—cheaper than license.

Bits of New York Life

New York, February 25.—The amazing popularity of the 5 o'clock tea continues. In the hotel district a constant stream of fashionably dressed women and men drift to the soft-lighted rooms where tables are half hid behind palms. There is dreamy music, but little dancing. In fact the smartest places have banned afternoon dancing.

Women come alone, in little groups and with male escorts. It is interesting to watch them. At some of the tables are fashion sketchers who go each day to limn the latest foible in dress. Elderly men, with a pink carnation in their buttonhole, bring a bevy of beauties.

Into one tea room the other afternoon there came a young girl who, like O. Henry's character, was to the menu born. She had the appearance of being just from Wellsly or some other fashionable school. She sat alone and rarely looked about. When she had finished her tea she lighted a cigarette, puffed it awhile, paid her check and departed.

The head waiter told me after-it awhile, paid her check and departed.

The head waiter told me afterward that she was a female detective whose job it was to spot the smooth crooks who prey on women in the tea rooms. The theatrical folks are tea room habitues. They are indulging in tea and toast instead of dinner so that they may are indulging in tea and toast instead of dinner so that they may Hairston's Statement.

In reply to statements attributed to Mr. Arkwright, in which it was charged that "radicals" were behind the gas rate protestation. W. M. Hairston, a leader in the condemnation meetings being held, Friday issued the following statement:

I desire to say that Mr. Arkwright is very much mistaken in his statement, published in the morning paper, that this fight is being wased by radicals or is based upon misunderstanding. Now it ill becomes Mr. Arkwright to fling the charge of radicalism or to assert that radicals are stirring up strife and that all this agitation is from such a source. The people understand full well what Mr. Arkwright and his cohorts are after.

The agitation is a candid and intelligent protest against individual ownership of the country's natural resources and public utilities. Furthermore, if the policy of private ownership is to prevail, the people are against the perniclous policy of the private manipulators of our natural rescurces and public utilities using the railroad dommission as a medium of taxing the public to maintain big dividends for the small group of the manipulators of public utilities.

The Georgia Railway and Power company frankly admits that it is operating without making dividends and this is very unsatisfactory. Therefore, it seeks to make good its losses by taxing the public to make up the discrepancy. Washington, FFebruary 25.—Major General P. C. Harris, adjutant general of the army, and for two years a close assistant of Secretary of War Baker, will honor the retiring secretary with a luncheon at the Army and Navy club next Wednesday at noon. General Harris is a Georgian, a brother of Senator Harris, and members of the Georgia delegation in congress have been invited to be guests on this occasion.

General Harris will remain as adjutant general at least until the expiration of a four-year commission, which has nearly two years to run, he having been appointed in the early fall of 1918. At the expiration of that time his rank as major general will very probably be permanently established, by reason of the position he holds.

He is a West Pointer and a member of the regular army, holding a commission as colonel prior to the world war. He has several years to serve before he reaches the age for retirement.

You Can't Fool All the People All the Time-

HEARST AND HIS BLUDGEON.

rom the Los Angeles Times. Commemoration of Lincoln's birthday brings to the minds of the great mass of Americans the profession of faith of the Great Emancipator that "you can't fool all the people all the time." It brings an annual renalesance of confidence that, however subtle and plausible a demagogue or a charlatan may be, the people themselves will surely find him cut. This aphorism is peculiarly applicable to Los Angeles at the present moment. when the exposure of the attempt of the Hearst papers to use their news columns as a club to compel merchants to advertise has taken place. Ever since the Hearst papers invaded Los Angeles discriminating people have been aware that the tactics of Hearst to secure business are those of the strong-firm man and the blackmailer, that the Hearst headline is the "Jolly Roger" of American journalism. His record in other communities was to them fully known. But it required the incident of the Bullock's permit for a bridge over a little blind alley, known as St. Vincent's Place, running half a block north from Seventh Street in the heart of the retail district, to bring the attention of all the people to the brutal, dis-honorable, roughbouse methods the Hearst un-derlings employ.

Permission to build this bridge and superstructure was granted by the city council nearly two years ago, after repeated hearings. The permit was not irregular in any way. Bullock's offered at the time to pay the city for the privi-lege, although no charge had ever been made for any of a number of similar permits already granted. But the city attorney gave a written opinion to the effect that there was no law under which the city could charge a rental for such a permit, The alley in question is not city property. The city only holds an easement over it for street purposes and the superstructure does not interfere in any way with its use by the

There is a proper provision in the charter, however, that the council may not grant permits of any kind in perpetuity, and the Bullock's permit contains a clause making it revocable at the will of the council. It was upon this pretext that the Hearst minions seized in their attempt to club Bullock's into advertising in the Examiner and Herald. No charge was made that Eullock's had violated any of the provisions of the permit; but the Examiner and Herald sought to use their influence with the mayor and the members of the council to make them pull Hearst chestnuts out of the fire. Certain members of the council and of the municipal art commission flinched at the first attack. Plainly they were keeping one eye on the approaching municipal

But the Hearst satellites had not figured on the independent spirit of the merchants and business men of Los Angeles, on the highly debusiness men of Los Angeles, on the highly developed sense of honor and fair play of the community as a whole. As soon as the real facts of the controversy became known every important business and commercial association in the city, headed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, joined in a denunciation of the outrage which Hearst sought to perpetrate. They passed strong resolutions declaring that the good faith of the city was involved, that the permit was a just and proper one, that it encouraged construction and business expansion and did not endanger even an abstract right to the possession and use of streets and alleys by the people.

In the opinion of the people as a whole the sports who are conother.

endanger even an abstract right to the possession and use of streets and alleys by the people. In the opinion of the people as a whole the sole questions to be decided were whether Bullock's had secured the permit under misrepresentation and whether they had abused the privilege granted. When it became generally known that Bullock's had not done so—that it was simply a Hearst conspiracy to use the layor and the council to club Bullock's into signing the advertising contracts, protests by the hundred began pouring in upon the city authorities. The devious practices resorted to by Hearst were fully exposed; subterfuge was no longer possible. And when the voice of the people of Los Angeles is once heard the representatives of the people are quick to take heed. The Bullock's permit will not be revoked. The good faith of the people will not be impugned. Hearst and his lieutenants have learned that the merchants of Los Angeles will not pay forced tribute to him or his publications. They have won their fight for industrial freedom and they have refused to submit to extortion and blackmail. Hearst has found again, to his loss and humiliation, that "you can't fool all the people all the time."

It will now be interesting to witness how the Héarst forces take their defeat; whether they will pursue, with villification, the five members of the city council who displayed their courage, their character and their red-blooded Americanism by voting Friday against the revocation of the Bullock's permit. These men have all been threatened by the Hearst papers. The people will watch Hearst's clubbers and bruisers.

Seven Southern teams having hit the dust in the first day of the first Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association basketball tournament, and fifteen teams having been entered it naturally results that there are eight colleges left to fight it out for the southern title between this good day and next Tuseday evening. Any freshman could figure that out without recourse to his tables of logarithms.

that if Georgia wins, the Red and Black must be at the very top of its game.

But there are other teams in the going, most decidely so. There's Millsaps, the college that nobody knew anyth about. Millsaps ame through with a rattling good victory over the strong University of Tennessee quintet. Then there's Mercer with as fine a pair of forwards as the tournament has shown and Mississippi A. & M. with a big record of achievement.

Auburn has to meet the University of Georgia Saturday and though Mike Donahue's men have some improvement, they are hardly hoping to stop Stegeman's crowd, while neither Tech nor Alabama is supposed to possess the strength capably of carrying them far after they have out each other's throats Saturday night.

Alabama and Tech, substituted for Buck Hatcher in the second half, played so earnestly that he accumulated four personal fouls in no time and Buck had to resume activities.

The game was a walkaway for the Mississippians. The Marcons, who have a proud Southern record, have been looked on as one of the teams calculated to give anyone trouble during the progress of the tourney and though they were never extended and took things as easily as possible, they showed latent strength which is likely to become potential in the later combats.

Their defense was so well developed that in the first half, the Purple Hurricane was unable to score a single point and in the second half, athletic Director Chadwick sent in a number of substitutes. The Mississippians are big and brawny, and though they appeared slow Friday afternoon, basketball experts who have seen them before declare them conditions the properties of the first part of the first same on the condition of the preventing the progress of the conditions of the prevention of the prevention of the preve count in the first game on the evening's program.

And Newberry was by no means the mark that the experts had considered this school in the pre-tournament predictions. The Carelinians were fast and agressive, but appeared to lose heart against the five-man defense of Coach Stegeman and always endeavored to shoot baskets from impossible distances.

Newberry jumped off to a lead of a couple of points on foul goals but the ever reliable firm of Anderson and Rawson located the rims before the going got very ancient and rang baskets with a presistency that would have been disheartening to most teams, but which didn't seem to make Newberry wish to keep trying.

(Special.)—Despite the fact thai Bill Laval, of Greenville, S. About $2,500 has already been subscribed, and several committees were appointed to raise the balance of a total of approximately $5,000.

John A. Baugh, Jr., chairman, and Messrs. L. C. Bush and P. E. Redding were appointed to see the down-town business men, while Clifford L. Smith and Sledge Adams will interview the mill men and W. L. Culpepper, secretary of the association, will take care of the outside business men

In fact, Tulane was forced to do most of its shooting from tremendous distances. However, the Otive was far from disgraced. In Martine, the Louisianians have a forward that any college would like to beast, while Cohen, a guard, not only had the temerity to wear a mustache on a basketball cougt, but in the final minutes of play shot a pair of field goals that were hardly less daring than the act of wearing the hirsute scenery.

The University quintet defeated Commercial in her last game of the season Thursday afternoon by a 36 to 16 count at the Auditorium.

Despite the lop-sided score the game was very interesting. Commercial put up a great fight but were just naturally outclassed from start to finish.

Final Meeting of Conference Delegates Is Set for Today; Will Consider Constitution

posed athletic conference of southern colleges was the outstanding feature of the initial session of the convention yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont hotel. This committee, consisting of Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, Georgia Tech; J. S. Thomas, University of Alabama; C. S. Hare, Alabama Polytechnic institute; Lee H. Patterson, University of North Carolina, and Dr. LeFevre, of the University of Virginia, will make its report at the meeting this morning scheduled for 9 o'clock, when definite action will be taken.

While little actual work was accomplished at yesterday's session, it isn't hard to see that these delegates are intent upon getting results in the nature of the formation of a workable intercollegiate athletic body, and when some few obstacles that loom just now are removed, the organization of this great southern association will be accomplished.

In the short addresses that were made during the opening session

Shortly after the meeting was called to order by Prof. S. V. Sanford, of the State university, who war elected to preside as chalrman. It became evident that certain legislation that failed of adoption at the December meeting of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic as sociation would be incorporated in the constitution of the proposed conference with hardly a dissenting college diamond performers from receiving remuneration for their efforts with semi-professional outfits; so that was also noted that the sociation would be incorporated in the constitution of the proposed conference with hardly a dissenting college diamond performers from receiving remuneration for their efforts with semi-professional outfits; so that the athletic council of his college was not ready just yet to snatch this source of revenue from the players.

Appointment of a committee to draft the constitution for the proposed athletic conference of southern colleges was the outstanding feature of the initial session of the convention yesterday afternoon at the Piedmont hotel. While little actual work was accomplished at yesterday's session, it isn't hard to see that these delegates are intent upon getting results in the nature of the formation of a workable intercollegiate athletic body, and when some few obstacles that loom just now are removed, the organization of this great southern association will be accomplished.

In the short addresses that were made during the opening session, the speakers called attention to cretain points that would have proven stumbling blocks under ordinary circumstances, but it is believed that the committee will smooth these rough places over before the constitution is brought to the meeting today, and followers of southers rough places over before the constitution adjourns.

the schools it was called upon to compete against, he had practically become convinced that the one-year rule would prove beneficial to southern athletics. Dr. Canfield stated that the matter would be brought to the attention of the athletic officials at Centre within the next few days.

Dr. J. B. Crenshaw after defending the eligibility requirements of the south, declared that Georgia Tech was ready to go into the conference. Dr. Wallace followed Dr. Crenshaw with a plea for co-operation among the members of the conference, stating that an attitude of suspicion would prove destructive to the association.

The delegates attended the games at the auditorium last night and will be guests of the Tech faculty at funcheon today.

Wall Street Interest Centered on Steel Prices

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, February 25.-Today's stock market was very much the same as those which have been witnessed early in the week. Specialties were again the features, some wide fluctuations being again witnessed in certain issues. Kelly-Springfield Tire broke to a new low record for the movement. But it is still above the low touched last December. On Monday or Tuesday of next week a syndicate which underwrote an issue of 500,000 shares of the stock expires. According to gossip in the street, the syndicate has not been very successful in disposing of the stock, the majority of it being in the hands of the underwriters, even at this late date. Naturally, the underwriters will be forced to take the stock at the expiration of the agreement, and it is in anticipation of this that Wall street has not been selling the stock the theory being the interpretable to the stock at the expiration of the stock at the expiration of the agreement, and stock, the theory being that if the syndicate members have not already sold any of the stock they will do so shortly after the winding up of

The position of the Sears-Roebuck company also continues to attract much attention, in view of the reports of losses as noted yesterday. This stock is now selling at the lowest prices since the readjustment in the price of the shares as a result of the stock dividend declared last year. But, aside from the decline in sales, there are other factors which affect the market position of the company's shares. The most important of all being the inventory account, which at the of last year was valued at $105,000,000, as compared with $42,000, 000 at the close of 1919. The company last year sold $50,000,000 notes to liquidate bank loans arranged to pay for inventory. An installment of this loan, amounting to something like $17,000,000, falls due later in the year. This will have to be arranged for. And besides that, rumors still circulated that the company may again have to come into the market for additional funds.

Wall street's interest today centered upon the question of whether or not the United States Steel corporation will recede from its recent stand that there can be no cut in seel prices, in view of the cost of manufacture. Mr. Gary has up to the present time held that there could not be any cut in prices without a sharp reduction in wages, and this he has characterized as "wrong and unfair."

The street today, however, is full of rumors that the steel corporation won't cut prices. Its prediction is based on the fact that the sales managers of the United Steel corporation and all of its subsidiary conference here in New York which lasts all companies will hold a conference here in New York which lasts all through today and tomorrow. There will also be held a meeting of the American Steel and Iron institute today at which judge Gary will preside. All of these events are interesting in connection with the reports that prices will be cut. Although the steel trade journals report that buying of iron and steel from independent concerns has not shown any material increase as a result of the recent cut in prices, a member of the staff of one of the leading independent plants, stated today that while buying was not on a very large scale, there was, however, some increased activity on the part of the customers of that concern, to buy at the prices which they were quoting, which were from $5 to $8 per ton below the prices quoted by the steel corporation.

In some quarters in Wall street the word is being passed around that steel will be a short sale if the corporation announced a cut in prices. A cut in prices will no doubt cause some selling in the stock and depress the prices; but experienced Wall street traders are advising their friends not to stay with the stock too long on the short side, for these traders remember the experience they had some ten years ago, when a steel price war was on, and every one sold steel short, only to lose money as the cut in release proved to be the turning point. only to lose money, as the cut in prices proved to be the turning point in our prosperity. Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., in an article which is to appear in Harper's magazine says in discussing the future that this country cannot be commercially and economically isolated and that the nation's prosperity is so closely interwoven with the affairs of European countries, that America must help restore Europe to a position of buying power.

The semi-annual report of the American-Sumatra Tobacco company for the six months ending December 31, 1920, as issued today shows net profit, before deductions of federal taxes and allowances for depreciation, amounting to $1,535,246 which after payment of dividends on the preferred stock was equivalent to $10.15 per share on the $14,448,585 common stock outstanding. In the same period of 1919 the company earned $1,457,978, which was equal to $9.60 per share on the same amount of stock

HALF MILLION VOTED TO TRANSPORT GRAIN

Washington, February 25.—Half a million dollars was voted today by the senate to defray costs of moving across the Facific grain donated by American farmers. for the famine sufferers of China.

Senator Kenyon, republican, Iowa, in offering the bill, said official reports indicated that 14.000,000 Chinese were facing starvation and that the daily toll was 7,000.

"This act is not only one of great humanity." he said. "but one of good diplomacy. The foodstuffs have been donated by the farmers of the country, the railroads have offered free transportation to the west coast and the hyotherhoods have agreed to give the labor free for the movement."

Under the bill the navy or the shipping board is to furnish the vessels required. It is the plan to use idle merchant craft and to man them with naval reservists.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

WEEKLY REVIEW

quotations making new low records for the season. May contracts here, for instance, have sold well below of opinions as to the unsatisfactory outlook.

Americans, however, are disposed to take a more favorable view of the business situation, especially regarding trade on the western continent, and owing to prospects for a drastic cut in this year's acreage.

According to a New York authority, the cotton acreage throughout the world is to be reduced on an average of 50 per cent; if present plans, are carried out. American planters are expected to reduce the acreage 20 to 25 per cent. The Egyptian acreage is reported reduced 66 per cent, and it is said that a substantial cut has been made in the East Indies.

Manchester is probably affected more by the political situation in the Near East than by any other cause, but press advices from Paris denote favorable progress being made in efforts to adjust differences with Turkey.

For the first time in weeks, New York reports improvement in the demand for cotton goods, which are reported more active and firm, with indications of the export demand expanding.

The extensive liquidation of the past few days, culminating this morning, has left the market in a healthier condition technically, the week long interest having been eliminated, perhaps replaced by an important about the lowest levels reached thus far this season, make it attractive to investors. There was a good class of buying on the break this morning.

A wire from Atlanta reads: "Georgia commissioner of agriculture advising farmers to plant no cotton, but to buy cotton futures at prevailing prices and let short sellers do the producing. Bays state cotton specialist estimates cost of producing cotton at 28 cents per pound."

Preliminary private reports from Texas indicates a probable reduction in acreage in that state of about 27 per cent.

New York, February 25.—(Special.)—Our market failed to meet the decline of Liverthe 121-2-cent level, or more than 4 cents per pound under the high early last month, while today's quotation of 6.76d for middling cotton in the Liverpool market was figured as equivalent to about 10.85 cents at the prevailing rate of exchange. According to local brokers, the influences chiefly responsible for the decline have been the continued depression of foreign trade as reflected in the news from Liverpool and Manchester and fears of increased old crop offerings in the south before new crop preparations are completed. Reports that banking interests in both eastern and western sections of the belt were advising liquidation of old holdings in order to reduce loans, were emphasized in the latter connection, and considerable southern hedge selling has been reported around the local ring. Meanwhile private cable advices have been received stating that some small lots of American cotton were being shipped back from Liverpool to New York for delivery on contract, which were taken as confirming the pessimistic reports of British trade conditions. Some buying by continental and Japanese trade interests has been reported on the decilines, but otherwise the support has been attributed chiefly to covering or buyers for a reaction. Notices issued against March contracts on the first notice day represented in the neighborhood of 75,000 bales and were stopped by firms who were credited with selling later months against the cotton. At one time March appeared to be 100 points and further notices are anticipated before the final maturity of the contract. Reports that sales of fertilizers are falling far below normal have attracted considerable attention and there were reports late today that a preliminary trade canvass pointed to an average reduction of approximately 30 per cent in the acreage of Texas and Oklahoma. The decline in the London market for bar silver was one of the week's unsettling influences.

New York, February 25.—Dun's tomorrow will say: early last month, while today's quotation of 6.76d for middling cotton H. & B. BEER.

New York, February 25.—(Special.)—Our market failed to meet the decline of Liverpool, due principally to the short covering of those who sold freely on yesterday's market. Liverpool was weak owing to unimproved reports from Manchester. The parket remained steady throughout the day until the late afternoon, when several interests sold freely only to buy the cotton back on the decline. The market continued steady on this decline and such prices can encourage more inquiries. Sentiment here is still bearlsh, but it is evident to-day that there is a little improved sentiment with cotton at these prices.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, February 25.—Dun's tomorrow will say:
Continuance of the business readjustments is indicated by developments in different markets and general and progressive improvement in conditions is yet to be witnessed. After months of restricted demand revival is still delayed in various basic industries, as in steel and fron, and such recovery as has occurred elsewhere is lacking in uniformity. As a whole, however, the situation is rather more encouraging than when the year opened, and the gradual relaxation of the monetary tension that has followed the liquidation in securities and commodities is a favorable augury. While the persistent disinclination to operate freely for the future tends to retard progress, moderate sized orders are being placed more frequently in some quarters as stocks of goods undergo reduction, and the approach of Easter is stimulating trade in retail channels.

Bishop W. F. McMurry, of Kentucky, will preach a special sermon at the 11 o'clock service. Sunday the board of stewards has sent out a letter to all the members of the congregation urging their attendance. Bishop McMurray will also tell the congregation of their needs and the kind of structures that ought to be erected. Pledges will be sought to begin the work. "What we need." says the letter, "is an auditorium that will seat 1,500 instead of 400, as our present one does. We need a Sunday school plant to take care of 2,000 instead of 700. It's up to us—nobody else. Let's all be there—me, and you and all the children. "It is not a sectional question, but something which will benefit the whole country," declared Representative Byrns, adding that some men "who had never been between the handles of a plow" got up in opposition stating the project would not help the farmers.

The project was termed a "monument to waste" by Representative Good, while Representative Longworth denounced it as an "outrage." Representative Mondell said republicans had criticised the democratic administration for "wasteful expenditures" of public moneys and they could not afford to vote for Muscle Shoals. He wanted to make a more careful inquiry into every phase of the subject before placing and more funds at its disposal.

The prelude to the servion will be a double-header: First the close relationship between the dance and the maternity home. This prelude will show that the maternity hospital is the end of the road for many of the frequenters of the dance hall and the divorce mill the other end of the road. It will further be shown that a vicious custom has come into vogue requiring the females to remove part of their clothing before engaring in the dance and those refusing to do so become wall flowers. The second section of the prelude will state why no slander suit was filled against the Pastor because of his remarks last Sunday evening. Those desiring comfortable seats are urged to come early.

CALLED TO ANSWER ON BIBLE READING

Rome. Ga., February 25.—(Special.)—The city commission on Thursday night, by a vote of four to two, passed a resolution citing the board of education to appear before it on March 3, and show cause why the members should not be removed from office for failure to require the Bible to be read in the public schools, as provided in an ordinance adopted six weeks ago.

The board members claim that the ordinance is filegal, and not binding. They state that if the courts find the order legal they will resign without formal action.
